It came with great sadness that we were called to bid a sad goodbye to our dear friend David. A wonderful father to his daughters, and a kind, caring and gentle soul, a very good man indeed. He loved his family and friends and above all else his love for Christ was undeniable. We became good friends after spending many, many, hours working together on a video project for a local school. We enjoyed many early Saturday morning mountain bike expeditions, among other adventures. David your memory will live on in our memories, thank you for being a good friend; you will be missed, but thought of with great fondness. Eternal rest grant unto David, O Lord, and let perpetual light shine upon him. May he rest in eternal peace.

My wife and I were newly married when we moved to San Diego from Minneapolis three years ago. I was hired on to grow our video production team and video processes at EastLake Church. Working in video production and ministry can have its ups and downs, but each time I worked with you, David, I always walked away enjoying my work and life more. Strategizing about ministry and video production and just conversing about our personal lives was always a highlight of my day, week and month. After spending any amount of time with you it always reminded me of how important community and solid friends were to have. I will never forget our Starbucks get-togethers with the other video directors, how you asked about my family each time we saw each other, or how you selflessly served our church week in and week out. And, just like I whispered to you when I visited you in the hospital for the last time, I want to tell you again—thank you for being a great friend. I won't forget you, David. And I won't forget the legacy you have left.

David, I knew you for only a few short years a long time ago. We worked on the 6th grade promotion video with another parent. The three of us took on a lot of extra work and responsibility to get that video done but I really enjoyed the whole process. We did some trail cycling and I will always treasure the talks we had on our breaks.

I loved being your wingman on camera when we served together. The conversations we shared about our kids and all the talks we had together about anything and everything will be cherished. A good friend like you will be hard to find and I will miss you! Ready One, take one... David on Two is free! The Board Of Directors will miss you.

David, every time my parents and I went to San Diego for our family vacation you would always come to see us. My mother your great aunt, Ana Maria, loved your smile and the way you always gave her a big hug. You were always so kind and loving. I am so glad I saw you at the family reunions, weddings, etc., but I was looking forward to spending time with you and the girls at Universal Studios. We had talked about it for two years, but something always came up. You grew to be a wonderful man of God and a great father. I will miss you my dear cousin. Leah Gallardo Switzer.
