James, As I sit here writing this I am thinking about the good times we had and how I wish there had been more of them. It is difficult for me to accept that you are gone but ultimately none of us are in control and God will call us home when he is ready for us. I pray for your family and especially for your daughter Emily. The people in your life are lucky to have known you because in a world full of bad people you were one of the good guys. Godspeed my friend I will see you on the other side.

To the family, My sincere sympathies on the loss of your loved one. Words can not express the pain and heartache you are going through, but please know that God will soon do away with all sickness and death, and he will even reunite you with your loved one soon. (Revelation 21:4, John 5:28,29) Until then may you cherish the many memories you shared together as they too can be a source of comfort.
