Out of the night that covers me,
Black as the Pit from pole to pole,
I thank whatever gods may be
For my unconquerable soul.
In the fell clutch of circumstance
I have not winced nor cried aloud.
Under the bludgeonings of chance
My head is bloody, but unbowed.
Beyond this place of wrath and tears
Looms but the Horror of the shade,
And yet the menace of the years
Finds, and shall find, me unafraid.
It matters not how strait the gate,
How charged with punishments the scroll,
I am the master of my fate:
I am the captain of my soul.

From one mother of a NAVY SEAL to another mother of a NAVY SEAL, my heart is with you.

Ida, Terry, Terry and Corey, My heart grieves with you in the loss of Jesse. He was a fine young man and a credit to your family. His example will live on as his legacy. I am honored that I knew him as a little boy and regret not knowing him well as a man. I know that the Author of our lives is in control and that He will send His Comforter to you. He intervenes for us in groanings too deep for words for those all-too-many times when we have no words and all we have are our groans of anguish. Jesse's with his Lord now and he'll never know fear, pain, sorrow or loss again. We mourn his loss from us, but we know we'll see him again. I'll pray for you all in this time of great sorrow.

To Jesse's family ~~ Sending love and prayers to you today, though you don't know me and I never met your beautiful boy. Someone in my family, however, was very close to him and I grieve your loss almost as if it was my own. I, too, have military children, and mostly I'm just proud of them and excited that they get to do what they love, pretending all the while I don't know what tomorrow could bring. You raised a good one, that I know for fact. Not many have the heart to do all he has done and you all are to be commended on raising a child with integrity. I wish I could have known him; I smile when I look at some of the photos I've seen for he was surely a fun-loving guy. When God saw Jesse heading His way, I know he went to open the gates of heaven himself, and shouted HOOYAH as he came inside. God bless you all.

To the Pittman Family, Janice and I also grieve as do many others, in your great loss. We both drove Jessie on the school bus until, if I remember correctly, He got a chevy pickup. He was a delight to have on the bus. He had an unusual but pleasant sense of humor and if per chance He was out of line all that was needed was eye contact and a grin would appear. In my conversations with Jessie I came to believe He had a personal relationship with Jesus and is this day at home in the comfort of His Heavenly Father. May God comfort you and give you peace.
