Neelu Soni lit a candle in honor of Grace Gwe.

I was deeply saddened to hear of Grace's passing. Working with her on the IEC Technical Advisory Group was a true privilege. Her expertise and thoughtful contributions during reviews were invaluable, bringing clarity and insight to every discussion. Collaborating with her was not only productive but a genuine pleasure, as her warmth and professionalism made every interaction meaningful. Grace taught me so much, and her guidance left a lasting impact. I always looked forward to our face-to-face meetings, where her enthusiasm and wisdom made complex challenges feel approachable and inspiring. Her legacy in our work and the connections we built will live on. Rest in peace, Grace. She will be deeply missed.

I met Grace in 2009. She quickly became a cherished colleague in the Southern California fellowship of medical physicists. She was always eager to volunteer to give talks at our local meetings and spoke in 2010, 2017 and 2020 at our annual Midwinter Workshops. She was a nationally recognized expert in many matters, especially in patient safety. Her wit and humor made her talks something to look forward to. Here she is in her 2020 presentation. We will all miss her!

Grace was gracious with her time and always willing to discuss improvements to TBI techniques and patient care. She will be missed both personally and professionally. Our thoughts are with her family and friends at this time.

Meeting up and chatting with Grace at the AAPM Spring Clinical meetings was always a highlight. We could discuss how to integrate presentations into clinical practice as easily as we could talk about family and life. She was intelligent, funny, and humble. Someone I admired. I am devastated. I am truly sorry for the loss that her family (and community) is facing.
