“ Marta Lomeli lit a candle in memory of Socorro G. Santiago

“ Socorro cared for my son from when he was six weeks old until he was too old to need a babysitter. She was like a second mother to him. He would hide in her kitchen cupboards so that I could not find him when I came to pick him up. She took him to his first day of school every year in elementary school. I couldn't do that because I was a teacher in the same district but on the other side of National City. Words can't express the tremendous debt that we owe to this wonderful lady. We love you and will remember you forever, Socorro.
